

STEMtastic

Saturday Camp at the Florida Air Museum

Ages 7-14

Putting Fun Into...

Science, Technology, Engineering & Math!

The STEM curriculum is age appropriate and includes: Newtonian Physics, interactive wave-form experiments, optics, robotics and solar power, Introduction to computer programming, coordinate graphing, weather explorations, introduction to gyroscopes, engine and motor mechanics, evolution of technology, fasteners, adhesives and construction technology.

Come and experience these challenging activities and hands-on construction opportunities on the Second Saturday of each month during the school year - September through May.

Group activities and individual study • Indoor and outdoor environments • $25 (includes materials)

Science

Technology

Engineering

Math

For more information or to register contact the Education Department at 863.904.4073, email Educate@FloridaAirMuseum.org, or visit www.FloridaAirMuseum.org.